

403422 Information Systems in Economy & Finance

[3 cr., 3, 0] This course introduces management information system (MIS) and related management and business concepts; MIS applications in business environment, technology and infrastructure used for development of MIS applications; information resource management, impact of MIS on individuals, business, and society. Practical training using Microsoft Access to develop selected MIS applications.

