

502472 Computer Applications in Accounting

[3 cr., 3, 0] This course will introduce students to basic computer applications and skills in accounting through the application of accounting cycles using EXCEL Electronic workbooks and accounting software, such as QuickBooks programs. The course will familiarize students with the use of general Journal entries posting them to the General ledger accounts, standing balance General ledger (Four Columns), preparing trial balance and total, and lastly preparing the financial statement.

