

502491 Training

[3 cr., 0, 6 weeks] This course exposes students to realistic work situations so that they can refine and apply the amalgam of knowledge they have gained through periodic reports and discussions with an academic supervisor. This course represents an opportunity for the student to put into practice all the skills learnt throughout the previous years in his/her area of choice within a real-life environment of companies or institutions.

