

503452 Services Marketing

[3 cr., 3, 0] The course explores the area of services marketing and identifies the main characteristics that set products and services marketing apart. As such the course represents an extension of the marketing management process beyond its traditional role in the physical products area.

