

504491 Training

[3 cr., 0, 6 weeks] The course provides a rigorous and advanced intellectual training in the area of finance based on the most current and modern academic thinking and industry best practice .It is designed for student who intend to pursue a career in financial sector, through exposing them to the practical experiences of the theories and methodologies that are utilized today for valuation and management of financial instruments as well as the complexities behind the decision making processes required for investments .