

506332 Operating Systems

[3 cr., 3, 0] Functions of operating systems, including process management and concurrency, memory management, scheduling, user and file management security. The course provides hands-on experience in specialized laboratory, with PC and workstation, including system setup and basic system administration functions.

